Description

Prowibo Think Tank Chat Series seeks to host conversational exchanges between experts, students, and emerging and established scholars on topical issues on Higher Education. The goal is to provide diverse contexts and deepen understanding about Higher Education. Unlike most programmes where experts and established scholars either engage within themselves or engage with students in a vertical manner, this Series offers a platform where both experts, scholars, and students shall engage in a horizontal manner; both providing insights, depth, diverse perspectives, and raising critical questions to deepen understanding across the board.

The key feature of this Series is that it will provide a safe space for honest conversations within equal rules of engagement. These engagements shall take the form of roundtable dialogues, debates, opinion pieces, and rebuttals. Among other objectives, this programme seeks to create a global network of experts, researchers, and students who will 'foster knowledge-driven engagements' for the mutual benefits. This programme shall exploit the digital space to network and connect experts, scholars and learners across learning institutions.
